BUT LITTLE CHANGE.

TO-DAY'S REPORTS SHOW A SLIGHT GAIN IN THE GENERAL CONDITION OF THE PRESIDENT.

He Eats some Porterhouse Steak and Seems to [illegible] Hours—His Physicians now admit that he Suffers from Blood Poisoning but Hopeful of Ultimate Recovery.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

LONG BRANCH, Sept. 15.—At the morning dressing, [illegible] the temperature was [illegible]; pulse, 108; respiration [illegible]. The president [illegible] the night [illegible], sleeping until 8 A. M., when he was wakeful for two hours, during which time his pulse rose, but without the marked elevation of temperature which has characterized the disturbance heretofore. After this he slept till morning. More nourishment was taken during the night than for several nights past. In reviewing the case of the president since his arrival at Long Branch, it may be said, in spite of various septic accidents which for several weeks and do still complicate his case, he has certainly not retrograded, but on the other hand has made some progress towards convalescence. Private Secretary Brown says the president feels brighter this morning. Weather cool.

A Comfortable Night Passed.

The president passed a comfortable night and [illegible] if he did not make progress last night he [illegible] competent to judge. There was no foundation [illegible] the rumor that an operation was contemplated [illegible] the lungs. Agnew also denied the story [illegible] he had heard of it was in the morning papers. Dr. Bliss goes to New York for a few hours.

Hamilton Hopeful.

Hamilton ventured an opinion on the president's chances of recovery to a friend this morning, which [illegible] in substance that the septic condition of the president's blood will surely cause fluctuations of the pulse, temperature and respiration until it is entirely eliminated. He [illegible] it safe to say the president will overcome [illegible] disturbances which may occur from impurity of the blood, but it is altogether probable that other disturbances will be occasioned before the [illegible] is entirely rid of blood poison. He believes the president will eventually overcome the effects of poisoned blood, and after that is accomplished his recuperation will be very rapid. Probably it will [illegible] to accomplish this about five weeks. The [illegible] indications give every reasonable ground for believing that the president would ultimately recover and be as well as ever. The president expressed a desire for a porterhouse steak, which is being prepared for him. Boynton considers that as [illegible] of the president do his own the chances are in his favor, and that, while his condition to-day is [illegible] as yesterday, there cannot be said to be [illegible] marked change.

Up again.

The president was placed in his reclining chair at [illegible]

A Good Day.

[illegible] P. M.—The president was placed in bed after [illegible] remained in his chair three-quarters of an [illegible]. Hamilton says he is having a good day. [illegible] no material change in pulse or temperature [illegible] the morning bulletin.

The Surgeons admit Blood Poisoning.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A Post's Long Branch special [illegible] the reason for the delay of the bulletin of [illegible] morning was the care expended by the surgeons [illegible]. For the first time the surgeons [illegible] to the statement that the president [illegible] from chronic blood poisoning. Their [illegible] is intended to be reassuring, but it is easy [illegible] they feel anxious as to the issue of the [illegible] to which they refer.

Comments on Morning Bulletin.

[illegible], Sept. 15.—The language of the [illegible] general comment. In light [illegible] of the case it has very great significance. [illegible] in charge have from the first [illegible] to admit the presence of [illegible] in a dangerous degree. This may [illegible] first, to admit the presence [illegible] to acknowledge the desperate [illegible] patient; second, to do so says [illegible] the theory of three outside writers is [illegible] of the medical profession [illegible] for days, however, grown to be clearly [illegible] of the pyæmia theory. The [illegible]. Violent fluctuation of [illegible] indication of poison acting. The [illegible] spasmodic, and works in spurts, [illegible] of a well man beats with regular[illegible]. [illegible] of Dr. Boynton that the pulse [illegible] 130 and over at night, [illegible] been reported a few hours [illegible] at 100, is a symptom, [illegible] with all circumstances which [illegible]. The various septic accidents [illegible] matter of merely subsidiary consequence [illegible] sufferers from constitutional [illegible] follows a well defined course, [illegible] in a lingering death. Acute [illegible] in 48 hours. In a milder or [illegible] sometimes months before the patient [illegible] are instances of final recovery. [illegible] with the hopeful tone of this [illegible]. The fact of complications [illegible].

A Favorable Symptom.

[illegible] Sept. 15.—A World's Long Branch special [illegible] the president's case which is [illegible] and which has not been much [illegible], has recently appeared. This is [illegible] disappearance of sweating while [illegible]. When he was in Washington, and for [illegible] he arrived here, he never went to [illegible] perspiration making its appearance [illegible] last week, however, this has [illegible], and now when he wakes up [illegible] natural moisture upon it and [illegible]. [illegible] is the strongest proof of genuine [illegible] which has yet appeared, and his [illegible] encouraged by it. It is said [illegible] that Doctors Hamilton, Agnew [illegible] of the opinion that there is [illegible] of his recovery.

[illegible] Eats some Steak.

[illegible], Sept. 15.—The president's condition [illegible]. He has eaten three ounces [illegible] porterhouse steak and swallowed [illegible].

Slightly Favorable.

[illegible] Sept. 15—[illegible] P. M.—(Official.)—The president [illegible] a quiet day, sleeping a little. He [illegible], the expectoration being [illegible] quantity of nourishment has [illegible] discomfort. He was placed upon [illegible] and remained 45 minutes in a [illegible] more elevated than on previous occasions. [illegible] to-day his temperature was 99.9, [illegible] respiration 21. At the evening dressing [illegible] temperature was 99.2, pulse 104, respiration [illegible].

AGNEW,
BLISS,
HAMILTON.

[illegible] Dispatch to Lowell.

[illegible], Sept. 15.—The president's condition does [illegible] to have undergone any material change [illegible]. All his symptoms continue substantially [illegible] as yesterday, except that expectoration [illegible] lung has been rather less difficult [illegible]. He is still very weak, and as this [illegible] is due to the condition of his blood, while [illegible] grave anxiety must also continue.

MACVEAGH.

[illegible] Unimportant.

The president passed about as good a day as yesterday [illegible] any material difference in condition. The [illegible] of the morning bulletin excited [illegible] especially among representatives [illegible], who have been maintaining that there [illegible] of blood poisoning in the president's [illegible]. Diligent inquiry to-day failed to elicit [illegible] explanation of the word "septic" which was [illegible] in the morning bulletin, beyond the fact that [illegible] impurity of blood, or in other words blood [illegible] to the issue of the morning [illegible] conference of attending surgeons—[illegible] and Hamilton—was held, and it is understood [illegible] by an argument as to what should be [illegible].

A Good Night Expected.

The [illegible] retired before 10, and the attendants [illegible] 11 P. M. At last accounts the [illegible] comfortably, with good prospects of having a quiet night. A stiff breeze from [illegible] blowing all day. To-night about [illegible] to storm. At midnight the weather [illegible].

Brokers' Anxiety.

[illegible] says while he was in New York to-day on [illegible] street, he was besieged by brokers, anxious for [illegible] latest news from the president.

Varied Opinions.

LONG BRANCH, Sept. 15.—Dr. Boynton, understands the word "septic" in the bulletin to mean [illegible], and that there may be two or more small [illegible] on the right lung. The complication is [illegible] growing worse and in all probability is [illegible]. There is danger, however, of the left lung [illegible] attacked. Agnew says he considered the cessation of perspiration, which has been a very unfavorable symptom in the president's case, as one of the best signs yet. The febrile rise to-night [illegible] so light that no importance is attached [illegible]. Hamilton considers the president [illegible] in as favorable a condition to-night as last [illegible]. Swaim says the president has fully maintained all he had yesterday, and is in as good condition this evening as last, with probably an [illegible] in strength. Boynton, in referring to the [illegible] high average of the president's pulse [illegible] that day in and day out the pulse averaged [illegible] 115 to 117. The doctor thinks the president's [illegible] pulse ranges between 74 and 76. The doctor, [illegible] frankly admitting the uncertainty of the case, [illegible] sees a way out and thinks the president's [illegible] will equal any emergency.

Twenty Thousand Veterans Send their Love.

The following telegram from Topeka to Mrs. Garfield is received:

Twenty thousand veteran soldiers, in reunion assembled, send you our sympathy and love, and ask [illegible] to say to our stricken comrade that our hearts [illegible] beating with anxious hope for his recovery. Say [illegible] him we believe that, under heaven, aided by that [illegible] sublime courage and faith which in the past have [illegible] to all people, his crown of glory, he will be [illegible] restored to the country he has served so long, so [illegible] faithfully and so well.

LEWIS HANBACK,
Commanding.

A Five Cent Fund.

[Salem Statesman.]

Mr. A. T. Yeaton, of this city, has been requested [illegible] receive contributions in sums not greater than [illegible] five cents, to be placed to the [illegible] of Sergeant Mason to defend him against [illegible] for shooting Guiteau on Saturday last. [illegible] sergeant will doubtless be tried for an assault [illegible] intent to kill. The fund will be used to [illegible] the expenses of trial, and any balance will be [illegible] to buy him a better gun. Contributors to it [illegible] will be published in the Statesman.

[illegible] Clyde (Scotland) ship-builders have leased land at [illegible], France, to locate a ship-building establishment [illegible] capable of employing 3000 men. This is done [illegible] secure the benefit of the bounty paid by the [illegible] government for home built ships.

THE TURF.

America's Horse and English Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A Herald's London special says: The chief topic of conversation yesterday was the grand victory of the American horse. Innumerable excuses were made for the way he has been operated against. Some said that Archer would at the last moment, ride for Lord Stamford, others that the horse was still suffering from the stoppage. Pincus gave him a week before last. Seldom has such a reception been accorded any horse, north country horse as that given to Iroquois when he returned to the paddock. Hearty cheers were given for Lorillard, Archer and Pincus, mingling with perhaps still louder cheers for America. Pincus was quite overcome with his reception. He deserves the greatest praise for the manner he adopted in training the horse, as no one but he who perfectly understood his constitution could have brought him to the post as fit as Jacob Pincus did yesterday. When the excitement had somewhat cooled down, I spoke to Archer, who in a slight manner said six hundred sovereigns [illegible] himself, about the way he won. He said he had a good position on rein [illegible] until he asked Iroquois to go, when he latter responded gallantly, and with the greatest ease sailed past the post as winner. It has been the most exciting and interesting race of recent years.

Iroquois Second Favorite at the Newmarket.

After the St. Leger race, Iroquois became second favorite for the Czarewitz stake at Newmarket, October 11th, at 11 to 1 against him, with 12 to 1 against Geologist.

Pleasant for Iroquois.

According to the conditions of the St. Leger Iroquois by his victory incurs 14 pounds extra weight for the Czarowitch stakes.

Mile and furlong, Gabriel 1st, Mary Anderson 2d, Ed. Sprague 3d; time 1:58¾.

Steeple chase, Ingomar 1st, Andy Woodcock 2d; time 5:25.

Several "Racy" Items.

At the fair grounds this afternoon Miss Belle Cook of California in the 20-mile race with Miss Emma Jewett made the best time on record: 45 minutes 10 seconds, beating the latter by about ½ of a mile. Miss Jewett's horse soon after she mounted him for the last time bolt at the fence, threw her off and caused her to faint.

Little Brown Jug will try to-morrow to beat Maud S.' record for a purse of $2500.

On Saturday Miss Cook will ride a 20-mile race against Miss Williams an Englishwoman.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Bogus Members Expelled.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The trades union congress today separately expelled several professed delegates for the reason that they did not represent bona fide trades unions. About 80 numbers favored and 30 opposed the expulsion.

Bank Failure.

The Northern Counties Banking Co. of Newcastle, has failed with liabilities estimated at sixty-four thousand pounds. A favorable liquidation is expected.

No Protection for Them.

The trades union congress yesterday made a demonstration against the fair trade movement by enthusiastically cheering the paragraph in the president's speech condemnatory to any return to the system of protection, and afterwards adopted a resolution for the immediate exclusion of certain professed delegates who did not represent bona fide trades union. A number in the concern questioned who were suspected of the intention to advocate fair trade interests accordingly left the hall.

London Items.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Khedive in a letter says it absolutely necessary to maintain European control in Egypt.

The exhibition of Irish manufacturers is to be held in 1882.

A great fire has occurred in Pentre colliery, Glamorganshire. No loss of life.

Is not Satisfied.

Edward Marston, of the publishing firm of Low, Sampson, Marston, Searle & Irvington, writes a long letter to the Times condemning the draft of a copyright treaty proposed by American publishers as utterly selfish.

Newspaper Comments.

Several semi-official organs comment on the reapproachment of three emperors produced by the Dantzic interview.

Chess Contest.

In the chess contest at Berlin to-day Zuckertort beat Tschigorin.

English Wool Market.

At the wool sales 10,300 bales were disposed of, chiefly Port Phillips and New Zealand. The market is fairly animated and prices steady.

Protection Wanted.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—The elders of several Jewish communities in the eastern provinces have appealed to the members of the congregation of Berlin synagogue to exert their influence for the purpose of affording their provincial brethren protection in the event of their rioting during the coming Jewish festival.

Don't like the Jews.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The Herald's St. Petersburg special says: An official decree has just been issued to-night convoking the various commissioners appointed to study the relative situations of the Jews and the rest of the people to show how pernicious to the masses the Jews have been and are, in Russia. The word "pernicious" is used in the decree.

Jewish Question to be Considered.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 14.—The appointment is ordered of local commissions to consider the Jewish question in places where the Jews predominate.

A New Russian Official.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 15.—General Ignatieff has been appointed minister of foreign affairs. Prince Labanoff will probably succeed him as minister of the interior.

France not Anxious for Trouble.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The Times London cablegram says: Thinking the financial thermometer more delicate than any other apparatus for indicating approaching storms, I visited yesterday several leading bankers in the city. The conclusion was almost unanimous among them that the situation was very grave in many respects critical; but they do not apprehend any general or permanent disturbance. Values are already disturbed and are likely to be more so, but the common sense of nations, it is believed, is sure to prevent anything like extreme action. The Times' Paris correspondent does not think there is any likelihood of France doing anything hasty owing to the fact that her situation is growing every moment more grave concerning affairs in Tunis. Projects with reference to Soudan and the necessity of augmenting French political influence in Morocco not only demand great efforts but have given rise to a project for fortification and of a special army for service of occupation in Algeria composed of veterans not less than 25 years of age, with special pay during service as well as after discharge, and not less than 50,000 in number. Whatever France may do in the case of Egypt, she is not prepared to undertake any movement which will make additional demands on her resources.

Given up the Fight.

PARIS, Sept. 15.—The Ordre states that Prince Jerome Napoleon has decided to leave France for Constantinople. He is preparing a manifesto renouncing his claim to the leadership of Bonapartists in favor of his son Victor.

Opening of Geographical Congress.

VENICE, Sept. 15.—The king and queen of Italy formally opened the geographical congress here today. De Lesseps delivered the inaugural speech.

Renounced Catholicism.

ROME, Sept. 15.—Rev. Campbells Caven, of St. Peter's cathedral, last evening abjured Catholicism in a chapel of Methodists. In notifying Cardinal Borromeo, the prefect of the congregation of his decision, he says his action was caused by the continued hostility of the pope.

No Middleman Desired.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 15.—At to-day's meeting of delegates representing Turkish bondholders, the porte's financial in consequence of their refusal to deal with the Russian indemnity or floating debt, has withdrawn those questions for the present. It is intended to treat directly with Russia in regard to the indemnity.

Trouble Ahead.

SUSA, Sept. 15.—The population around town is collecting to resist the French.

Insurgent Attack Repulsed.

TUNIS, Sept. 15.—The French camp at Zaghouan [illegible] attacked at night by large forces of insurgents for four days. French lost a few wounded and insurgents repulsed.

Several Loving Presents.

This morning there was received a very pretty night clock for the president. A card attached bore the words: "With the sympathy of five interested children in Boston." The clock will be placed in the president's chamber. A very handsome rolling wheeled easy chair was received from Hoey.

WASHINGTON CITY.

General Crop Reports.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The cotton reports show a heavy decline in September, being a decrease of 16 per cent during August and 19 per cent as against the same time last year. Corn shows an average of 67 or 70 per cent, lower than August and 20 per cent lower than last year. The buyers [illegible] the Missouri and Kansas tobacco crop very [illegible], the decline being 20 per cent, lower than last month, [illegible] through as a universal complaint.

"Money is the root of all evil." Impure blood is the root of all disease. With a trifle of one, buy King of the Blood, which contains roots and root out the other root. See advertisement.

GENERAL NEWS.

HENRY VILLARD ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC.

Various and Sundry Items of No Importance and Less Interest.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The directors of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company have elected the following officers: President, Henry Villard; vice president, Thomas F. Oakes; second vice-president, Anthony J. Thomas; secretary, Samuel Wilkeson; treasury, L. Belknap.

Fire and Loss of Life.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 15.—A fire in [illegible] & Co.'s furniture and frame factory [illegible] with a loss of $30,000; insurance [illegible]. Cohn & Co.'s place also burned; loss [illegible]; insurance $7,000. Two fatalities.

Too many for Her.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—An extraordinary divorce case is in superior court today. Mrs. Elizabeth Faloy modestly asks divorces from two husbands. In 1868 she married Dennis Faloy at Lynn, Mass., but in 1872 he deserted her. Two years later Edward Hones told her Faloy was dead and persuaded her to marry him. Subsequently she learned that Faloy was not on dying in Quincy, Mass., but was married to another woman and had several children. Mrs. Faloy, therefore, asks to be released from Faloy because of his gross violation of marriage vows, and from Hones because she could not legally contract a marriage when she married him. The case is unique in the history of divorces.

A Greasy Transaction.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Two of the largest sales of butter ever made were effected here to-day. A. C. Knopf sold 4350 packages and Woodcock & Dexter 1700 packages. One lot consisted of 12 tubs of ladle packed, at a price of 17½c; 971 tubs of dairy at 20c, and 376 tubs creamery, at 27½c per pound.

The Grateful Rains.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 14.—It is raining hard for the first time since the 14th of July. More rain has now fallen than in the past two months put together.

A Ghastly Cargo.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A special from London says: Great sensation is caused at Bristol, by the discovery that a cargo of three hundred tons of human bones is being discharged there to the order of a local firm, engaged in manufacturing manure. The bones were shipped from the Rodosto at Constantinople, and are supposed to be the remains principally of defenders of Plevna. There are complete limbs strewing the horrible cargo, and in some cases hair still adheres to the skulls. Peter Cooper says it is a common thing among the British to buy human bones. In fact they will take all they can get any time and from any part of the world. They use them for manuring their lands.

I have often heard it said that England was manured with bones taken from the battlefield of Waterloo.

Cutting down Rates.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—The Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio roads to-day, by way of enlivening the railroad war, made a remarkable cut of the schedule of rates to Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington, making the rate from Chicago to each of those points $5.

Railroad War.

The Grand Trunk railroad, which has long endeavored to force recognition from Vanderbilt's roads, by its cheap Boston and Buffalo rates, has taken steps to-day which will, it seems, necessarily bring the Vanderbilt lines to time. It has established a round-trip thirty-day ticket from Chicago to Buffalo for $10 with a rebate. This will allow passengers to go to Buffalo for $5, for any point on the New York Central for 2 cents a mile, and return to Chicago from Buffalo for $5 dollars. The rate to Rochester is by this means reduced to $9 and to Albany to $10.90, which is a heavy cut.

Schooner Ashore.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 15.—The schooner Napoleon is ashore near here. Life boats are trying to save her crew.

Death of a Relative of Napoleon I.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 15.—Madame Susan Bonaparte, daughter-in-law of the late Madame Elizabeth Patterson Bonaparte, and widow of Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, died this morning.

Christian Charity.

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—The Young Men's Christian association has remitted two thousand dollars to the Michigan sufferers.

A Heavy Majority.

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 15.—Dingley's majority for congress is 1173. The largest previous majority in the district was 3000.

A Nebraska Senator on the Indian Question.

OMAHA, Sept. 15.—Senator Van Wyck is out to-day in favor of the transfer of the Indian bureau to the war department.

Duel in Southern Kansas.

ARKANSAS CITY, Sept. 15.—Mayor Leatherman and James Buck, a prominent attorney, fought a duel to-day. Both were wounded at the first fire. Buck probably fatally.

More Embezzlement.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Tribune says: Charles Baxter, junior partner of the firm of Jos. Schillena & Co., manufacturers of clocks, disappeared last Saturday, and it is reported has fled the country with a large amount of money belonging to the firm. During the last year it is said he has been speculating in Wall street.

Large Cattle Shipment.

OMAHA, Sept. 15.—Ten cattle trains, 200 cars in all, arrived here to-day en route to Chicago. This is the biggest cattle shipment ever made in any one day over the Union Pacific Railroad.

The Omaha Fair.

Mrs. Burke of Omaha, who recently beat Miss Lizzie Pfunso in the 10-mile race at Council Bluffs, making a record of 22¾ minutes, and the next week riding against that record at Des Moines at [illegible] 10 miles in 21¾ minutes, to-day at the Nebraska state fair rode for $1000 against her Council Bluffs record. She used four horses, making six changes during the race, and made ten miles in 20 minutes and 38 seconds, the fastest time ever made. She rides again on Saturday.

The attendance at the fair to-day was variously estimated at from 20,000 to 25,000. Special trains arrived from all parts of the state. The fair is a grand success as to exhibits and attendance, but is rather tame in its programme of amusements, the balloonists chariot racers and others having failed to put in an appearance. The horse races also are very poor.

Stove Foundry Destroyed by Fire.

TROY, Sept. 15.—A fire at Bashey & McLeod's stove foundry destroyed property valued at $30,000.

Musty Wheat.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—One hundred and thirty-two thousand bushels of hot wheat have been found, All No. 2 spring.

Will stop in Time.

Malcomb's, whose father, the captain of the steamer Columbia, was drowned on that ill-fated steamer, says this is the thirteenth of the family who has gone down on the inland seas, and that as he is the only survivor, he proposes to shut down on marine life.

Sentenced for Life.

Prince Albert Jones (colored), who murdered a brother because he had murdered another brother, was to-day sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

Well Received.

DENVER, Sept. 15.—Cecilia's Love, Emma Abbott's libretto adapted to the music of La Traviata was produced to-night by the Emma Abbott Opera Company to a very large audience and met with great favor.

A Fortunate Voyage.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 15.—The dory Little Western has arrived, having completed the trip from Gloucester to London and back.

Will assist in the Good Work.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 15.—The State Liquor Dealers' Association have decided to assist the authorities in preserving order and sobriety, and in suppressing disreputable places, and authorized the executive committee to call a national convention in Chicago if the time seemed ripe.

An Important Suit.

DENVER, Sept. 15.—A Santa Fe special says: By direction of the U. S. attorney general suit in pursuance of a recommendation from Commissioner McFarland, suit was filed to-day in the first judicial district court of New Mexico to oust the Oxyon Delagua Company, a strong Boston company, from the grant which they now occupy and as from here on the ground of a fraudulent survey. The case is one of the greatest importance, involving as it does property upon which the company have expended nearly a million dollars for developments.

The English Farmer "Past Praying for."

A correspondent of the New York Times, writing from England August 24, says that the bad weather was having a most destructive effect on the English harvest. The writer adds:

At the moment there are no signs of change, though the Archbishop of Canterbury yesterday published a prayer to be offered up in the churches for the weather. In sending this supplication to the bishop of London, he says: "Although the prospects of agriculture are, I hope, improved in certain years there is in many parts of the country reason for much anxiety as to the present harvest, and I think it right to express to the clergy and laity, through you, as dean of the province of Canterbury, my feelings that we ought, all of us, to offer up supplications, both publicly and privately, to Almighty God that it may please Him to give and preserve to our use the kindly fruits of the earth, so as in due time we may enjoy them." The form of prayer was made public yesterday morning, and soon after we were not only raining, but pouring, but with a general abundance, accompanied by thunder and lightning. The English farmer, it is to be feared, is in a suitable condition almost "past praying for."

Arthur's First Effort.

Vice-President Arthur's first executive duty by order was as a school teacher, and he seems to have been the head-master of the North Pownal Academy in [illegible]. Of his school experience in 1849 a description by himself, in a letter to an intimate friend, has been published in the course of which General Arthur said:

However, my school began, and it was composed of mostly twenty-five boys. There were only all the professors and the saints and martyrs of the system of antiquity nominally present. There was an African damsel, a score of as [illegible] for alphabet, [illegible]; and many specimens of the Yankee, swap face boyses. This most prominent object was the Quest boy, in school, about six or [illegible] possessed the merits of some kinds of rogues [illegible] to negotiate a sale with some small boy. There was not one battle. A strong farmer's boy endeavored to overthrow your humble servant and his authority at the same time, but thanks to gymnastic practice, there was a triumph for the teacher.

Grain Growers' Meeting.

The grain growers to-day at Grangers' hall heard the report of the committee appointed yesterday to consider the question of incorporation. The committee reported in favor of incorporation as the Wheat Growers' Association of California, which would establish a bureau of statistics in this city and collect reliable news relating to grain, markets, tonnage, etc., for the benefit of members. The initiation fee is $10 and the society is open to all genuine table wheat growers upon payment of this sum. The following directors were elected: A. C. Paulsell of Stockton, H. M. Larue of Sacramento, McPike of Napa, L. M. Hanckman of Stanislaus, Thomas [illegible] of Merced, W. B. English of Contra Costa, A. D. Logan and J. B. Campbell of Colusa, and E. B. Combs of Tulare.

The Golden Gate Fair.

OAKLAND, Sept. 15.—An immense crowd was at Golden Gate fair to-day.

The first race was pacing, free for all, for a purse of $[illegible] hitched to wagon. Washington was favorite. Washington won the first three heats and first money; Wegel 2, Terry 3d. Time 2:25½, 2:24, 2:23½.

In the free for all, 4 year olds race, for a purse of $750, five entered. Belle Echo sold in the pools at $[illegible], Lonesty and Annie Laurie in the field at $12.50, Romeo $60, Alex. Hutton $145. Romeo won the first heat in 2:17, Belle Echo second and third heats in 2:20½ and 2:26. The race was then postponed until 2 P. M. to-morrow. In the first heat Romeo could have easily distanced the entire field if his driver had allowed him.

Heavy Fire at Austin.

A dispatch from Austin, Nev., says: A fire this morning destroyed 20 buildings, including the post-office and Odd Fellows' and Masonic halls. Loss $100,000; insurance $15,000.

Heresy Trial.

The examination of the charge of heresy against Mrs. Sarah Cooper of the San Francisco presbytery, was concluded to-day. After arguments for the prosecution and defense, the presbytery took the matter under advisement this evening. In secret session each member was allowed five minutes to express his views. A verdict was given 13 to 8 against Mrs. Cooper.

Troublesome Fires.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—A San Rafael dispatch states that a brush fire started yesterday in Baltimore gulch at the foot of Mt. Tamalpais and swept over a tract of country three miles wide by seven miles long. Farm houses and country residences of San Franciscans in the vicinity were surrounded by flames, but have thus far escaped destruction though the fire is still raging. The new depot of the R. R. Co. at Corte Madera is burned. The company sent up a fire train and a gang of men to aid in checking the spread of the conflagration. William Pixley, brother of Frank Pixley of this city, who started the fire while clearing his land, is missing and it is feared has perished.

The Body of Wm. Pixley Found.

The body of Wm. Pixley, who started yesterday's brush fire, was found by his son this morning in Baltimore gulch. He died while fighting the flames—his hand still grasping a shovel. The fire is still raging. Cushing's country boarding house was burned the boarders fleeing and leaving all effects behind.

The California Brush Fire.

SAN RAFAEL, Sept. 15.—The fire has burned over about 25,000 acres up to this time, about one-third of it grass which the ranchers expected to feed their stock on this fall and winter. Considerable damage to fences has been done. Blythedale, Dr. Cushing's place, was reported burning at all right, although at one time the destruction of the cottage was imminent. Through the exertion of both guests and help the fire was subdued, the ladies uniting with the stronger sex in the work. The only houses destroyed so far is one occupied by Wm. Pixley, located in the gulch where the fire started, and it was only a temporary affair worth not to exceed $100.

Suicide.

SAN RAFAEL, Sept. 15.—A man named Peter Gudde, in the employ of C. T. Emmet, in Ross valley, committed suicide this morning it is supposed by drinking carbolic acid. It is said he had been insane once and was afraid of becoming so again.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

An Unfortunate Printer.

WALLA WALLA, Sept. 15.—At five minutes past 10 this morning a dwelling owned by Charles Besserer, editor of the Watchman, and occupied by J. H. Neville, foreman of the Watchman office, took fire from a defective flue and was totally destroyed. The furniture and clothing of the inmates was nearly all burned. Loss on house, $800; on contents, $250. L. M. Maxson, a fireman, was knocked down and run over by the fire engine and badly bruised.

PARAGRAPHIC DETAIL.

The two volumes of Mr. Bancroft's history promised this winter will bring his work to the close of Washington's administration.

The officers of the Ohio penitentiary have discovered that within its walls the manufacture of bogus nickels has been carried on for some time.

Flipper stole $1000 and is in jail, while Howgate, with his $400,000 "embezzlement" is safe in Canada. Dorsey, Brady, et al., have not yet had any jail experience.

A wicked Chicago paper suggests that "if Dr. Bliss would publish accounts of his bulletins to nourish himself with, he would find what might be considered a proper use for them."

The prohibition candidate for governor of Ohio is a manufacturer of cider mills, but plea is something like the girl with the illegitimate child, that they are very little ones, and she doesn't make a great many.

The Boston Herald announces that citizen Butler will pay no political bills not of his own contracting this fall, and that he does not mean to contract any. Is this an announcement that citizen Butler has finally abandoned the practice of partial purchase and gone in for a feeling pure and simple?

Coos County Mills.

All four of the lumber mills on Coos bay are now running and cutting in the aggregate about 120,000 feet of lumber per day.

Parker's mill, on the Coquille, is now cutting about 27,000 feet of lumber per day, the most of which is white cedar. On the wharf, awaiting the arrival of two vessels due, was 300,000 feet of lumber, 100,000 feet of which was flooring. When a few more saws are added and this mill is completed, it will cut 30,000 feet of lumber per day. Mr. Parker will also soon commence the building of two or three light draught schooners for carrying 350,000 feet of lumber and drawing only about nine feet of water, the completion of which will render him comparatively independent of outsiders and save him about three thousand in marketing his lumber. This mill is on a high point, beyond the reach of high water, and therefore does not at any time interfere with its prosperous business.

Gruby's, a water mill, also located near Parker's, and about 12 miles from the bar, is cutting about 12,000 feet per day, when in operation, but owing to a scarcity of water it is not now running only about two days per week, but in a few weeks it will be able to run on full time without interruption, for several months. This mill has access to an inexhaustible supply of white cedar and fir lumber.

The Mississippi's Fickle Current.

[New York Herald.]

The reports which the southern papers publish of the serious changes in the channels of the Red river and Mississippi revive an old question, whether New Orleans is to be abandoned by the Father of Waters. It appears from Major Benyaurd's recent examination that the Red river, which hitherto has emptied its main volume into the Mississippi about one hundred and twenty miles above New Orleans, is now discharging its water to the Gulf through the bed of the Atchafalaya. The bar at the mouth of the Red river is reported as giving way, too, to such an extent that the Mississippi is cutting for itself a way to the Gulf by the Atchafalaya, which may finally become its outlet, leaving New Orleans stranded on a shallow stream.

IRISH NATIONAL CONVENTION.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DUBLIN, Sept. 15.—About a thousand delegates attended the opening proceedings of the land league convention to-day. W. H. Gray, T. P. O'Connor, Sexton, Healy and Sheehy were present. Parnell, on the opening of the convention announced that delegates from the land league were [illegible] and Sexton informed them that the convention would adjourn consideration of the questions affecting all classes until to-morrow for the purpose of enabling delegates to confer with Parnell and the executive committee of the land league. Twenty-one members of parliament were present. Parnell's entrance caused great enthusiasm, and he took the chair. Sexton read a number of telegrams, particularly from the American land league, exhorting delegates not to rest until landlordism is abolished, and tenants not to hold back their harvest rent. In an opening speech referred to the thinned ranks by arrests since the last convention, and said for ten imprisoned a hundred would join the league. He said that the question of rent the [illegible] he always considered a question of principle and no question in regard to rent. The land act [illegible] ignored the effect of this act. The land [illegible] classes of [illegible] at the [illegible] and tenants [illegible] different classes in Ireland.

He had no doubt this act would be used by the British government. He was determined not to trust to [illegible] act. It was designed to bring the land league [illegible] appeal to the land courts until test cases brought by the league had been submitted. He pressed forward to abolish landlordism and national independence. He advised farmers' money under the land acts so as to allow laborers, and he invited the latter to join the league. He pledged himself to help the farmers movement if farmers would not fail the laborers. Fair play.

The reading of telegrams occupied an hour. Among the most notable were threats to "run America" in case of suspensions in the event of the agitation slackening up.

Sexton and T. P. O'Connor were elected secretaries of the convention.

There was a very large attendance of priests.

Parnell [illegible] asserted that it rented would be the value of the land to a [illegible] nature, before he [illegible] proved by [illegible] or his predecessor. It refers to the industrial question, he said Irishmen should encourage home manufactures if they had to pay dearer than for foreign goods. Things not produced in the island should be bought in America. English goods should not be bought in any event. The resolutions were received with acclamation.

Agitation wanted—Not work.

DUBLIN, Sept. 15.—The misgivings of many felt in regard to the possibility of uniting all parties in a movement for the revival of Irish manufactures, or indeed for any useful object, are fully justified by the result of the meeting yesterday in connection with the proposed exhibition. The land league left no doubt that their existence is involved in the result, and that if they allowed the thoughts of the people to be engrossed with any practical measures for the promotion of home and their own occupation would be gone, the country will become fearful and refuse to listen to their wild and wretched appeals; hence an organized obstruction to the meeting was agreed to. The confusion was at one time so great that it was nearly a hand to hand fight. Had the tenants' element not entered the arena it would have been highly representative.

A Scene of Confusion.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—At the meeting at Dublin about the proposed exhibition of Irish manufactures, a committee to advance the enterprise was appointed after a prolonged and noisy a meeting. The land leaguers insisting upon adding names to make the objectionable names in the proposed. The names were all added as a division, the land leaguers being in a large majority.

The Thunderer Speaks to the Point.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Times in discussing the national league convention say the note which the land leaguers uniformly strike is that of a continued agitation with no sign from first to last of any intention on the part of men who live by agitation to accept the land act as a settlement of the Irish question. Once and for all, Ireland must understand that this dangerous and fatal guilt will not be permitted to endanger the United Kingdom of Great Britain and will no more tolerate secession than the United States tolerated it in 1860.

Mass Meetings to be Held.

Immediately after the land bill convention a series of mass meetings will be commenced. The first will be at Ieighton on Sunday, on the very spot where Michael Davitt began the land league movement in 1879. Parnell presides.

Remarkable Instances of Recovery.

[New York Times.]

President Garfield's case adds one more instance to the long list of illustrious men whose lives have been spared, in the world when all hope seemed over. William of Orange-Nassau, the founder of the Dutch republic, when shot through the face and neck by a Spanish assassin, recovered contrary to the expectation of both friend and enemies; Richard I. of England, survived the fever which prostrated him in Palestine, although his best physicians and promoted his case hopeless; Sultan Baber, the Mogul conqueror of India, in the sixteenth century, was at one time so much reduced by sickness as to be unable to swallow anything but a few drops of water; the English King William III, though sickly from his very birth, was thrice given up by the doctors before the end came, and even then owed his death chiefly to the effects of a fall. A still more singular instance was that of the famous Italian statesman, Cardinal Bentivoglio, whose life was despaired of from quinsy. The servants and physicians, thinking him already dead, had quitted the sick chamber, and the universal silence emboldened the cardinal's pet monkey to issue from the nook in which it had hidden itself. Putting on its master's red cap, the animal began to admire itself in the mirror, grimacing and chattering so comically that the moribund cardinal burst into a violent fit of laughter, which he broke the quinsy and saved his life.

A Great Mohammedan Revival.

[San Francisco Bulletin.]

There are about 175,000,000 of people attached to the Mohammedan faith. The old classification of the children of Islamism in the figures is 297,000,000. But a writer in a recent number of the Fortnightly Review gives the nationality of these people and a census, which shows the first-named estimate to be approximately correct. The fact is of special interest just now, because there is something like a revival of Mohammedanism or to state the matter more explicitly a great number of evangelists of the faith are now actively engaged in propagating that form of religion. They traverse all countries, and preach Islamism, making many converts. In former times Mohammedanism was propagated with fire and sword. The instruments that faith are now so wide that they employ other less instruments. The number of persons who now make the annual pilgrimage to Mecca is a little short of 1,000,000. Ottoman subjects, Egyptians, Mogrebbins, or Arabic-speaking Mussulmans from the Barbary states, Arabs from other parts of the world, Negroes from Soudan and Zanzibar, Malabars from the Cape of Good Hope, Persians, Hindostanese, Malays, Chinese, Mongols, Circassians, Tartars and Afghans. It is a mixed multitude. According to these statistics there are about 5,000,000 Chinese Mussulmans, or a number far greater than all the converts which have ever been made in that country to the Christian faith.

The Highest Lake in the World.

[Denver Republican.]

The lake that has the highest elevation of any in the world is Green lake in Colorado. Its surface is 10,252 feet above the level of the sea. Pine forests surround it, and eternal snows deck the neighboring mountains. One of these, Gray's Peak, has an altitude of 14,341 feet. The water of Green lake is as clear as crystal, and large rocks massive and a petrified forest are distinctly visible at the bottom. The branches of the trees are of dazzling whiteness, as though cut in marble. Salmon trout swim among them. The lake is 60 feet deep.

THE ARIZONA INDIAN TROUBLE.

The Settlers Arming—The San Carlos Indians Warned to Remain on their Reservation or Trouble will Ensue—Movements of the Troops.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—A special from Tucson, Arizona, says: Acting Gov. Gosper, has seen to the organization of minute men in all outlying camps and will have a sufficient number of arms to supply them. The restive spirit of the Indians of San Carlos reservation forebodes trouble. It is the general desire to see business settled now, and is much as the people are well armed and more anxious than now could not be chosen for this settlement.

The settlers of lower San Pedro have organized a company of 50 men, officered by experienced Indian fighters. They have sent Agent Tiffany, of San Carlos agency, word to keep his Indians on the reservation, and that all found off will be treated as hostiles. This company will be a great trouble, as the Indians have been given to believe heretofore liberal [illegible] and it is doubted if they will obey the orders of the agent. The San Pedro settlers are determined to carry out their resolution.

Lieutenant-Colonel Price is moving with two companies of cavalry for the north towards Fort Apache, where he will co-operate with Col. Carr. Major Sanford will be in the same neighborhood about the same time. All three of these officers are experienced in Indian warfare.

It is the intention of courts to have the soldiers in all the localities of murderers and other places where Indian murders have been committed to find guilty Indians so far as their names are known. The sheriff or marshal, as the case may be, will summon a posse. There will be no difficulty in securing 1000 men to assist in the work. They will probably go on the reservation and seize the guilty ones, and, if necessary, resort to such measures as will save all expense of trial. The people are thoroughly aroused on the question of removal or extermination of the Apaches. Memorials to congress will be sent from every settlement in Arizona and New Mexico asking aid in the matter. There is but one opinion on the point.

The Citizen has the following special from Willcox: Headquarters were moved to Fort Grant yesterday. From thence they move to Camp Thomas to-day or to-morrow. There is no excitement among the troops on San Carlos reservation. Troops are marching to the front on foot. There are not sufficient horses to mount all the men. Supplies are being forwarded by Col. Hodge as fast as they arrive.

The measures of Gen. Willcox in concentrating all his forces in the vicinity of the hostiles has the effect of keeping them in the vicinity of Cibicu creek. The hostiles tried to get communication with the reservation Indians yesterday. Scouting parties have destroyed large quantities of Indian stores. Their atrocities are being confined to Tonto basin and Cibicu.

Catarrh a POISON

Wei De Meyer's Treatise on Catarrh, explains the following important facts:

1. That Catarrhal Colds become poisonous infection, at first local, and then constitutional.
2. That, being Constitutional, the infection is beyond the reach of mere local remedies.
3. That impurities in the nostrils, are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs, thus poisoning the Digestive, Respiratory and Genito-urinary organs.
4. That Catarrhal virus follows the mucous membrane and causes Deafness, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Bronchitis, Leucorrhœa, and Consumption.
5. That Smokes, Douches, Inhalations and insoluble Snuffs cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named.
6. That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for, and the quality of being absorbed by, the purulent mucous wherever located.

Based upon these plain theories Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure is proved to be infallible. It not only relieves, it cures Catarrh at any stage. Home testimony!

FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT. 16, 1881.

WHEAT IN CALIFORNIA.

From the report of the wheat-growers' association of California, the conclusion might be drawn that the excess of wheat in that state over the tonnage to carry it away was not nearly so great as figures reported. From this the inference might be had that charters could be effected after a short time at lower rates than now. From the statistics of wheat in the state and calculation of tonnage already arrived and known to be on the way, an excess of only about 200,000 tons of wheat is reckoned; and it would be fair to suppose that this would be much reduced by arrival before March next of vessels not included in any of the lists yet published.

But advices from other sources suggest that caution be observed in considering these estimates. The amount of wheat is said to be underestimated on the one hand and the tonnage to be overestimated on the other. In opposition to the statement that the surplus wheat in California does not exceed 250,000 tons, figures are presented purporting to show a surplus of half a million tons in excess of such estimate. The crop of this year is said to give 1,000,000 tons for export, while 650,000 tons were carried over from last year. If 250,000 tons have been shipped so far, the remaining surplus would be 1,400,000 tons. Now as the wheat growers' association estimate it at less than 1,000,000 tons, the difference is considerable enough to disturb calculations very much one way or the other.

We incline to the opinion that the wheat-growers' association is committing another mistake similar to that made last year. For a long time it was asserted that tonnage enough was headed towards California to carry away the whole surplus. But wheat in enormously quantities continued to come forward, and at last it was discovered that an enormous greater surplus than had ever been reported was seeking shipment. The freight market rapidly advanced, the wheat market was broken, and tonnage which it was expected would be dropping in did not arrive. The enormous supply of wheat in California, making a surplus for shipment so much beyond what had been estimated, broke the market flat. Of course the market here followed the fortunes of that in California. The result was a low price for wheat and unprecedentedly high charters. The circumstances that produced these results were aggravated by the very course which had been injudiciously taken to break the freight market. The underestimate (or intentional miscalculation) of the wheat surplus, which was everywhere published, caused ship owners to stop sending vessels to this coast; and in consequence the attempt to "bear" charters and to raise the price of wheat by belittling the crop was precisely the opposite, in both directions, of what was intended. Charters went up and wheat was forced down.

To such extent does the price of wheat on this coast depend upon the supply of shipping that it is certainly the interest of our wheat-growers to attract vessels hither, by showing that there is a surplus sufficient to load all that may come,—for such is the fact—rather than to underestimate the crop and create a doubt in the minds of owners of vessels whether charters can be had if they send their vessels this way. The whole case is summed up by a commercial paper of San Francisco in this statement: "Last year some of the farmers who were supposed to know made it appear that the crop was only half what it turned out to be; but the market did not go up. What happened was that ships ceased coming hither and the enormous surplus of 650,000 tons had to be carried over. It boosted up the freight market to £4 5s 6d, and put down the wheat market in the same proportion. If recent statements are believed, the same will be the result this time. The wheat market cannot be advanced in this way, but the freight market can."

This subject is of great importance to us from its necessary effect on the wheat and freight market here. The vastly larger wheat supply of California, and the far greater commercial importance of San Francisco, exercise a controlling influence on our market. We fear there is no substantial reason to expect sufficient tonnage to move the surplus wheat of the Pacific slope before another harvest, and that a large amount will remain to be carried over till next year.

BALANCE OF TRADE.

In a recent article the London Times presented statistics which seemed to show that the apparent trade balance in favor of the United States was largely fictitious. This apparent balance, which last year amounted to $260,000,000, the Times estimates to have been more than consumed by the freight money we paid to foreign carriers, the interest on American securities held abroad, and remittances for American travellers in Europe. The Pall Mall Gazette, taking the same view as that of the Times, says that though Americans believe that the excess of their exports over imports gives them the power to call gold from their foreign debtors, and though they count this power as a sure preventive of financial disturbance, yet excess of exports is not necessarily a sign of wealth, but the nation that is always exporting more goods than it imports is nearly always a debtor nation, and its excess of exports is necessary to pay its debts. This view of the case goes deeper than that of our superficial balance-of-trade philosophers. It is essential truth. And the prodigious and regular augmentation of wealth in Great Britain, though her imports nominally exceed the exports by large annual sums, is a standing demonstration of it.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned meats have become a very important article of export from the United States to foreign countries. The extent and value of the traffic can be seen from the fact that a single firm in Chicago sends to Europe more than $5,000,000 of canned meats annually. Their superiority over all other conserved meats of similar kinds is so well recognized that they are rapidly driving all other canned meats out of competition. Every exertion however, is made by European butchers, sausage-makers and meat dealers to injure their reputation and check their sale. Our consuls abroad send through the state department frequent admonitions to those who pack these goods, to send to foreign markets none but the very best kinds. The same caution should be observed in respect of canned fish and fruits. For goods in these lines, America can take the markets of the world, if care be constantly observed in preparation and packing. The canning of meats and fruits should grow to be as great an industry with us as the canning of fish has become; and for the reason that more persons can be interested in it, it should yield wider profits. So far even our own consumption of these goods is supplied chiefly from abroad.

A MORE HISTORY.

Joseph Holt, who was a member of Buchanan's cabinet, first as postmaster-general and afterwards as secretary of war, but who will be remembered perhaps more conspicuously as chief of the bureau of military justice during the rebellion, has been making public his recollections of events that preceded the outbreak of the war. What he had to say was called out by Judge Black's recent statements. The main point in Holt's deliverance is an attempt to vindicate Buchanan. He says it must be borne in mind that Buchanan was surrounded by a congress that would not have voted a man or a dollar to strengthen the hands of the executive had a conflict been precipitated; that the national cause gained great moral strength from the fact that the seceders were not attacked by the government but were treated with forbearance till they had first fired on the flag, and that this act on the part of the south roused the people of the northern states to a pitch of enthusiasm that carried the country through the struggle. Now, after the war, we think how different it would be if such a crisis were again upon us. But the country had to be educated to the crisis; and when all things are taken into consideration, the party divisions, the peaceful inclinations of the people and the attitude of congress, Judge Holt insists, and with much plausibility, that those conspicuous acts of conciliation on the part of the government and its officers at that time were wisest and best. And yet it is apparent that President Buchanan shirked a great responsibility. Anxious to "tide over" the difficulty, to avoid the rising storm and to keep the peace till his successor could relieve him, he led the south into the error of supposing that the north would not fight for the union. Even Jefferson Davis makes it plain that secession never would have been resorted to, had the south supposed the north would resist it to the extremity of determined war.

"Hamlet" is one of the enigmas of literature. It has caused more discussion than any single work ever produced, and stands as a monument of the marvelous depths of Shakespeare's mind. Critics will never be agreed as to whether the insanity of Hamlet was real or feigned, and the whole psychological cast of the play is full of the most puzzling questions. The literature of the discussion is the most voluminous in the entire realm of literary criticism. A new theory is now about to be projected into it. The author of this theory sees in Hamlet what nobody had ever thought of before, namely, that the prince of Denmark was a woman, and had been brought up as a boy for state purposes. A book is soon to be published by Lippincott to sustain this original and astounding theory. It is to be called, "The Mystery of Hamlet; an Attempt to Solve an Old Problem." The author of this original and startling theory, and the book by which it is to be supported, is E. P. Vining, a well known railroad man of Omaha. It is assumed that this theory will account for all the apparent contradictions of character in Hamlet. It certainly presents a new issue in the discussion of the question; and this is something.

It is estimated that the world's production of paper is something like two thousand million pounds annually, one-half of which is used for printing and one-sixth for writing, while the remainder is coarse paper for packing and other purposes. The United States alone produces yearly 200,000 tons of paper, averaging seventeen pounds per head for its population. The Englishman comes next, with about twelve pounds per head; the German takes eight pounds, the Frenchman seven pounds, while the Italian, Spaniard and Russian take respectively three pounds, one and a half pounds, and one pound annually, the consumption of paper being roughly in proportion to the education and intellectual and political activity of the people.

The English press is very much given to speaking in disparaging terms of the "corruption in American politics," but if all accounts are true, their political record is far worse than ours. Mr. Courtney, a member of the house, and one of the leader writers of the London Times, has been computing the cost of the last general election, with the following results: The cost for the city of London was $75,000; Greenwich, over $50,000; Southwark, $75,000; South Essex, $100,000; Middlesex, $90,000; Yorkshire, over $250,000; Durham, $230,000; (one candidate paid $60,000); Montgomeryshire, $100,000. Here is $970,000 among some half dozen constituencies, after all the reforms of the past fifty years.

The newest thing in the literary line is the patent, or ready-print sermon, which a Chicago firm offers to furnish, "printed on fine, clear, white paper with bold-faced type," etc., to ministers and students who will send their address. The firm sends a specimen sermon and proposes to furnish others to order from a list of 300 discourses on different subjects at the low price of 30 cents each. The sermons are warranted to be non-denominational and to be so sent that two ministers in the same section will not have the same sermons.

In pursuance of the determination of the Northern Pacific railroad company to commence at once the construction of their line on the north side of the Columbia river, from Ainsworth to The Dalles, Gen. Sprague has been instructed by Vice-President Oakes to put parties of engineers in the field immediately to revise former locations, and at the points of heavy work to put forces on the grade.

At the recent election in Spain it is said that five thousand votes were colonized in one place, and two hundred and fifty repeaters organized to vote as many times as should be necessary. And yet the late lamented William M. Tweed was in Spain but a short time.

The population of Vienna is 705,402. The number of houses in the city is 12,210. The Jewish population of the city is 72,543—a greater number perhaps than in any other city of the world with the possible exception of London.

FRIDAY MORNING. SEPT. 16, 1881.

CITY.

[illegible]—A few minutes before 12 o'clock yesterday a young man named Frank Spaulding, aged [illegible], fell from the wharf at the rear of the Willamette Iron Works and was drowned. Spaulding for the past two years had been engaged in the boiler shop connected with the iron works. When the shop shut down, and the operatives went to get their checks, young Spaulding began to climb out of the boiler shop. By some accident he fell from the wharf at the works and struck against the guard of Bateman's new steamer moored alongside the wharf, and then fell into the water and disappeared. The distance the unfortunate man fell is about [illegible] feet. It is supposed that he was either killed outright when he struck the steamer guards or so stunned as to be rendered helpless. A boy who saw him fall, but a boy who was working on the boat heard him strike against the guard and up to a late hour the splash. Several persons have been engaged grappling for the body, but up to the present writing had not succeeded in finding it. The deceased was known as a very steady, industrious young man, and was universally esteemed by all who knew him. His father lives on a farm near [illegible], in Yamhill county, and was notified of the accident as soon as it occurred. He has a mother and brother in the east.

NEARLY DROWNED.—Master Willie Anderson, one of the messenger boys employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company, very narrowly escaped drowning yesterday evening about half-past six. A number of little boys—Charlie Jones, [illegible] Roberts, Eugene Roberts and Charlie Taber—were bathing near the front of A street at the time of the accident. Willie Anderson, it seems, had been telling the boys that he was an expert swimmer, when in reality the lad could not swim a stroke. Young Taber, supposing he could swim, pushed the lad off into deep water just for fun. Anderson, instead of striking out, commenced struggling in the water and in a moment sank beneath the surface, but went down almost immediately again. The boys, perceiving that he could not swim, and that he was in imminent danger of drowning, became frightened and called for help. Fortunately several persons were near and went to the rescue. Just as he was going down the third time he was rescued. Had assistance been delayed a moment longer the lad would certainly have drowned.

NORTHERN PACIFIC ELECTION.—Private advices give the full list of the directors elected yesterday at the meeting of the stockholders of the Northern Pacific railroad company in New York, viz: Frederick Billings, John W. Ellis, Ashbel H. Barney, [illegible] G. Ralston, Robert Harris, Thomas F. Oakes, [illegible] H. Holmes, and Henry Villard, of New York; J. L. Stackpole, Elijah Smith and Benjamin P. Cheney, of Boston; John C. Bullitt, of Philadelphia, and Henry E. Johnston, of Baltimore. Henry Villard was elected president and Thomas F. Oakes vice-president. The directors above named were elected by a vote of sixty-one millions of the stock.

NARROW GAUGE EXTENSION.—The Oregonian Railway Company, Limited, this week completed a line from Lafayette to Fulquartz landing, on the east bank of the Willamette, two miles below the mouth of the Yamhill and nearly opposite Ray's landing. Commencing to-day, trains will run from Fulquartz, through Lafayette, to the southern terminus of the west side division. At the southern end, six miles of track has been completed from Monmouth to the new town of Airlie, near the Benton county line, and will go into operation to-day.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.—The county jail of Multnomah contains at present four prisoners charged with the crime of murder: J. G. Robeson, for killing J. D. Robb at Astoria; A. R. Stoughton, charged with the murder of a man named Sullivan in [illegible] county; Jack Powers, for killing Bennett, and Frank Howard, for the killing of [illegible] Smith. Powers and Howard are both under indictment and will be tried at the present term of the circuit court.

FUNERAL OF J. A. SMITH.—Yesterday afternoon the funeral of the late James A. Smith took place from his residence, northwest corner of Main and [illegible] streets. A large crowd of friends were present, and a long train of carriages followed the remains to their resting place at Lone Fir cemetery. The following gentlemen were the pall bearers: [illegible], L. E. Borthwick, A. N. Gambell, H. [illegible], John Barry, A. H. Morgan, A. P. DeLin.

[illegible]—The board of directors of the [illegible] Transportation Company, met at [illegible] on the [illegible] inst., and chose as officers [illegible] president, C. A. Reed, secretary; and [illegible]. They found their steamer [illegible] good service on Shoalwater bay, [illegible] the immediate construction of a steamer [illegible] harbor and Chehalis river.

[illegible].—This steamer arrived in Astoria [illegible] morning at 7:30, within one hour of the [illegible] passage on record. She drew 17 feet, and [illegible] over St. Helen's bar, so anchored below. The Emma Hayward, following close behind, [illegible] passengers and mail and arrived here at 6 [illegible]. The Columbia waited for high tide and came [illegible] at 1:00 this morning.

DEATH OF E. M. PLAMONDON.—Mr. E. M. Plamondon, one of the pioneer residents of Salem, died [illegible] at his home in that city, of consumption, [illegible] the age of [illegible] years. He has resided in [illegible] for the past 25 years. Mr. Plamondon was a [illegible] of the Masonic fraternity and will be [illegible] by that order.

[illegible].—The schooner Annie F. Briggs [illegible] the Columbia bar yesterday morning bound [illegible]. The steamer "State," which sailed [illegible] at 11 o'clock on Wednesday night, arrived [illegible] yesterday morning and passed out to sea [illegible] evening at 5 o'clock.

[illegible].—The numerous friends of Mrs. T. H. [illegible] will be glad to learn that she is recovering [illegible] her late illness, which was not hemorrhage of [illegible] as reported in some of the papers. She [illegible] to go to Goldendale to visit some of [illegible] living there.

[illegible] APPOINTED.—Mayor Thompson has [illegible] the following members of the common [illegible] a special committee to investigate the charges preferred against W. S. Chapman, [illegible], W. B. Marye, R. Gerdes, C. [illegible] and W. B. Honeyman.

[illegible] ILL.—Mrs. J. S. Keller, wife of [illegible] Keller, is lying dangerously ill at her [illegible] in this city. Owing to her serious illness [illegible] Keller was not able to attend the meeting of [illegible] council on Wednesday evening.

[illegible] CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will announce [illegible] in this court this morning in the case of [illegible], also in the case of Bank of British [illegible] vs McGraw, and same vs Marshall.

[illegible] COURT.—Judge Lorenzo Sawyer will [illegible] San Francisco by the steamer of the 28th inst. [illegible] will hold United States circuit court here, beginning Monday, October 3d.

[illegible] DEFENDANT.—The jury in the case of [illegible] vs. A. Y. Hamilton et al, tried [illegible] court, returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

A NEW MOVE.

[illegible], the well-known and popular clothier [illegible] has made his name a household word in Oregon, [illegible] last night by the Columbia and will receive by that steamer the first installment of a [illegible] fall and winter clothing, that, for style, [illegible] excellence and low prices will delight all [illegible] want to be well dressed. Nor will he retain [illegible] rank as clothier alone. He wants the [illegible] of being the leading merchant tailor of [illegible]. To this end, he has secured the services of Mr. John Quinn, late from London, a cutter of [illegible] ability. He has laid in an assortment of [illegible] goods that embraces every good manufacture [illegible] to the trade, and only late designs. Gentlemen [illegible] contemplate buying garments, ready made or [illegible] to order, will do well to wait until Bar[illegible] has his new stock on the shelves in the handsome store corner First and Washington.

PERSONAL.

Mr. S. A. Miles and daughters of St. Helens are at the Esmond.

Mr. E. M. McCartney of the Northern Pacific [illegible] for Spokan Falls this morning.

Mr. Geo. W. [illegible]ride is convalescing and came [illegible] from The Dalles last night. He will be at the [illegible] for several days.

AUCTION SALES.

ACKER & LEIHY.

SLIPPERY MORDAUNT.

Under the watchful eye of Joe Day he Disappears from the steamer Columbia—Did he Jump Overboard?

The reportorial force of THE OREGONIAN, in fact all the reporters in town, are again indebted to Harry Mordaunt for a real good item. Let's see, how many has he furnished anyhow. Here's the list: Slungshotting a sailor, his arrest, preliminary hearing, indictment, trial, sentence, escape from the penitentiary, rearrest in San Francisco, attempt to break jail there and reshipment to Portland; a tax, nine items. This was the last chance alike, just four items. It was feared that a record of Mordaunt's [illegible] in the penitentiary would have exhausted the interesting subject, but the escaper, ever alive to interests of news-gatherers and never tiring of his efforts at well doing, came forward yesterday with the capsheaf, so to speak—the keystone to the arch, as it were. While aboard the steamer Columbia traveling at full speed three miles below Astoria, under charge of police officer Joe Day, with a sixteen pound shackle attached to his right leg, he disappeared, and to all intents and purposes, is non inventus.

It happened thuswise: He asked to be permitted to the closet on the main deck, and Day before leaving him there, took the precaution to tighten the fastenings of the shackle. The officer went into an adjoining apartment. When Day emerged, he found that his prisoner was gone. He immediately went to the saloon, no Mordaunt; then to the upper deck, no Mordaunt; then searched the main deck, still no Mordaunt; then, with the aid of the ship's officers and crew, the entire vessel was searched, but "neither hide nor hair could be found." As the steamer was approaching Astoria, one of the deck hands volunteered the information that he had seen the prisoner slide down a rope to which a deck mop was attached, dragging from the stern of the ship. At Astoria Day, of course, watched the gang and port holes, but Mordaunt was not to be seen. Two ships were anchored near the point where the prisoner was missed. It is not at all likely that he jumped overboard with that 16 pounds of iron to his leg, and if he did, he did not swim towards shore, unless one would call the bottom of the river shore. The only reasonable conclusion is that Mordaunt was stowed away by some deck hands and still there, unless he escaped last night while the steamer was anchored below St. Helens. Day came to the city by the Emma Hayward yesterday evening. He may comfort himself with the following from Mr. Shakespeare, adapted to occasions like this:

Dogberry—You shall comprehend all vagrom men; you are to bid any man stand in the prince's name.

2d Watch—How if he will not stand?

Dogberry—Why, then take no note of him, but let him go; and presently call the rest of the watch together and thank God you are rid of a knave.

Item No. 11.

FRIDAY, 2:15 A. M.—The E. N. Cooke, which just arrived, brought up Mordaunt. He was stowed away on the Columbia, and just after dark jumped overboard and undertook to swim to shore. He was seized with cramps and called for help. He got the shackle off with a "Spanish windlass." A boat from St. Helens rescued him, and he was recognized as the criminal. Joe Day is two inches taller than he was an hour ago, and the way he smiled when he saw Mordaunt in the city jail was pleasant to behold.

BOARD OF FIRE DELEGATES.

Last night the board of delegates of the Portland fire department held an adjourned meeting. The secretary reported $5 collected during August.

MILITARY AND PERSONAL.

[Vancouver Independent.]

The wife of Lieut. [illegible] Wainwright, is cavalry returned to Fort Walla Walla last week from San Francisco.

Col. G. L. Gillespie, U. S. engineer corps, has taken charge of the work recently under the charge of the late Col. Michels, at New York.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles, accompanied by his aide, Lieut. O. F. Long, will leave today for Forts Walla Walla and Lapwai, on a tour of inspection.

W. F. McMicken, surveyor general of Washington territory, has been visiting Fort Coeur d'Alene and adjacent territory, and has since gone to Fort Colville.

Company H, 21st infantry, Lieut. E. F. Eltonhead, commanding, is expected to arrive to-day at Vancouver barracks from Fort Stevens, to remain there for the winter.

Lieut. J. A. Parke, 21st infantry, returned on Tuesday from a trip to the mouth of the Lewis river, where he saw those Indians then begging and more fatigue than game.

Two companies of the 21st infantry have been ordered to proceed from Fort Coeur d'Alene, to assist in the construction of the military telegraph line from Camp Spokan to Spokan Falls.

Lieut. Francis J. Patten, 21st infantry, has been ordered to Spokan Falls, to engage in the construction of the new military telegraph line from that point, and will depart in a few days.

Major Ely McClellan, surgeon U. S. A., and Capt. John M. Dickson, surgeon U. S. A., expect to leave en route to the east on the steamer of the 20th. Capt. Dickson's family will accompany him.

Gen. Frank Wheaton, colonel commanding 2d infantry, arrived down from Fort Coeur d'Alene on Tuesday, in obedience to telegraphic instruction. He will remain at headquarters a few days.

Lieut. Thos. W. Symons, chief engineer of the department, accompanied by his assistant, Mr. A. Downing, will leave to-morrow for Camp Spokan. They will also go to Fort Colville before returning.

Capt. George H. Burton, with his company of the 21st infantry is now engaged in the construction of the new military telegraph line from Ashland, Ogn., to Fort Klamath. It is expected to be completed this season.

The order heretofore issued directing Lt. [illegible] P. Moffet, 2d infantry, to proceed to the military school at Fort Leavenworth has been revoked, and he will remain at Fort Coeur d'Alene. Lieut. Moffet is at present in charge of a military working party on the Mullan road over the mountains.

Battery F, 4th artillery, now stationed at Fort Canby, W. T., is the oldest of the companies in the U. S. army, its continuous history being traced back to the date of its formation in 1776. It is possible the battery will go to the Yorktown celebration if transportation funds are available.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

[Advocate.]

Rev. Dr. Woodruff, Mrs. Bishop Haven and her son Theodore, left San Francisco for the east on the 4th inst.

Rev. J. H. Rook is still very low, though it is thought, slightly better, and physicians are hopeful of his recovery.

A new and neat fence has been erected about the North Portland M. E. church, and a capacious shed built in the rear to keep fuel in.

The first quarterly meeting this year for Hall street church will be held next Sabbath. Rev. A. C. Fairchild, P. E., will preach. The quarterly conference will meet at 7½ o'clock P. M. of Saturday. Love feast at 9½ A. M. Sunday. All are invited.

Rev. Registe W. Bland and his wife, of the Columbia river conference, and stationed last year at Baker City, left San Francisco in company with Mrs. Haven for the east. Rev. Mr. Bland goes into the theological school at Evanston, and Mrs. Bland enters college.

THE BRITAIN OF THE SOUTH.

New Zealand—Its Rapid Progress and Enormous Resources—Its Gigantic Banking, Mercantile and Insurance Institution, with Aggregate Assets of $81,000,000.

[From the S. F. Daily Exchange.]

At the last general meeting of shareholders of the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company held in London, a few weeks ago, in allusion to that colony's past and present condition and future prospects, the chairman, Hon. Thomas Russell, C. M. G., said:

"I only point to the pastoral and agricultural [illegible] of New Zealand, but my present object is to draw attention to the rapid development of its agricultural resources through the facilities now afforded by the opening up of the country by railways and roads. I remember a few years ago, standing in the midst of a fertile plain in New Zealand which then was of no value except as pasture for sheep and cattle, because of its remoteness from any town or port, and I remember seeing there a fine field of oats of about 100 acres, which was estimated to yield a crop of 60 to 70 bushels to the acre. I asked the owner what he intended to do with it, and he replied that, except to feed his own horses on the station, it was of no value, for it would not pay to cart it to the nearest market town! That little fact will give you an idea of the condition of New Zealand at that time. The only land it would pay to cultivate was a small area near to the large towns. Now, with an area about equal to that of the United Kingdom, the land is naturally rich, the total amount of land then under cultivation being short of 500,000 acres; in the five years following, ending with 1874, they more than doubled the area of land under cultivation, the area in 1874 being 1,000,000 acres, but in 1880 it had reached to within a few thousand of two millions of acres, thus showing the enormous stride which the country had taken in that short period of time, entirely due to the opening up of the country by the facilities given by the construction of railroads and public roads. And this result has been obtained, although the railway system is not all completed and many of them are still unfinished pieces of railways. The country is now better opened up, and I believe it never before was in such a position for rapid progress as it now is. With this condition of things and a climate so genial that the country is never scourged by the severity of an English winter, and never burnt up by an Australian summer and though now inhabited by a white population of only half a million, we feel sure that before many years are over it will contain a population of several millions. Having some knowledge of the country after having lived there for 30 years, I believe that the opening up of the country by railways and roads during the last ten years has added more to the value of the public and private estates of New Zealand than the amount of the whole public debt of New Zealand put together." [Cheers.]

In reference to the operations of his company Mr. Russell says:

"In 1870 we received 22,000 bags of wheat for sale; in 1875, 71,000 bags, and in 1880, 249,000; and now it will pay the farmers of California to grow wheat for export, it should well pay those of New Zealand. The voyage is shorter, and the latter can produce twice the quantity per acre."

We gather from the same report that the wool exports amounted to 62,220,310 pounds in 1879; that the total value of gold for ten years reached $175,000,000, and that the total exports for 1880 aggregated $44,000,000.

The country is especially adapted for the raising of live stock. Her flocks and herds are already counted by the tens of millions.

The prominent financial organizations of New Zealand, and, in fact, of the world, are the Bank of New Zealand, with assets of $60,000,000; the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency, whose assets amount to $22,000,000, and the New Zealand Insurance Company, footing up $2,000,161. The stockholders and directors in the two first named companies are also the principal stockholders and directors in the New Zealand Insurance Company, and are personally responsible for the losses of that company under the English unlimited liability act.

The New Zealand Insurance Company Fire and Marine, has done business on this coast for six years, and have no losses at present due and unpaid; and the success of the company here has been so satisfactory that on the 1st inst. they moved to those prominent offices No. 412 California street, which have been elegantly fitted up for their especial use.

Taking all in all, this is one of the very strongest companies doing business here, and, judging from its success in the past, has come here to stay.

We are indebted to Mr. Augt. Craig, general agent for the New Zealand Insurance Company and the Loan and Mercantile Agency, for the above particulars, and as he was a resident of the colony for twenty-four years with favorable opportunities for obtaining authentic information, his statements are in every way to be relied on, and are further confirmed by the last census returns just received.

THE CARBON RIVER COAL FIELDS.

The Recent Purchase of the Central Pacific Railroad Company—The Mines to be Vigorously Worked.

NEW TACOMA, Sept. 14, 1881.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Last week I visited the Carbon Hill coal mines, where I was kindly entertained by Mr. Wingate and Mr. Chandler for two days and shown through the mines. I also visited the new town upon the plateau 500 feet above the coal tunnels. This town contains about 65 dwellings, offices, store, hotel, engine house, steam sawmill, which cuts about twenty thousand feet of lumber daily for house use and coal chutes, into which the coal is dumped and from which it is unloaded into the coal cars upon the broad gauge railroad to New Tacoma daily.

The coal veins are mostly situated along Carbon river, on both sides of it, beginning near the water and extending one above another upwards for about 500 feet. Between the veins are seams of sandstone rock, and clay, and sometimes sand and gravel. The angle of the dip of the rock and of the coal is the same, each being about 45 degrees. The river runs down through a deep canyon, is about sixty feet wide and three feet deep, and of a milk color. It rises at the west base of Mount Rainier, and it is said that masses of white clay and decomposed rocks slide down from the mountain in the summer time with the glaciers into the stream and are washed down it, giving this color to the water. In the winter season the waters are clear.

It may not be amiss to give a short history of these mines. About two years ago Mr. Wingate discovered coal cropping out upon the bluffs, and on examination it was known that there was enough of it to justify the working of them for commerce. Accordingly, some eight gentlemen at once formed a company, known as the Carbon Hill Coal Company, and commenced to improve those mines. The N. P. R. R. Co., some 18 months ago, built a branch to those mines (from the main road to Wilkinson) about three miles. The coal company purchased from the United States, as mineral lands, at $20 per acre, sections 4 and 34, township and range not essential. The engine house is upon the town site, and large wire ropes are run out from the great drum in the engine room and the loaded cars are drawn up and the empty cars let down upon two long inclined narrow gauge railroad tracks upon an angle of about thirty degrees to the coal tunnels. Along the river are railroad tracks to and into each tunnel. The men draw by hand the empty coal cars to the different side chutes, and mules draw out the loaded cars to the main inclined ways.

Four tunnels are opened out, and for about fourteen months past the coal company have sent off to New Tacoma upon the cars about 300 tons of this coal daily. It is first class bituminous coal, clear of foreign substances, and is excellent for blacksmiths and for coal gas. It leaves no cinders, but only a few ashes when burned. It is also excellent fuel, emitting but little smoke and burns with a bright flame.

As fast as this coal became known it was more and more sought after. The Wilkinson coal mines had ceased to be worked to any extent for nearly two years past, and much of the carrying capacity of the N. P. R. R. was comparatively idle from New Tacoma to the mines. It would require about a million dollars to enlarge the product of the mines to the extent of the tonnage of the broad gauge road from New Tacoma and the great demand for the coal.

So the coal company concluded to sell out to some wealthy company that could develop fully the vast coal mines. Recently an agent of Mr. Villard made proposals to purchase the two sections with the franchise. But no bargain was had, and several of the owners or officers of the Central Pacific railroad offered something over a half a million dollars for the two sections with their franchise, which was accepted, and on the 1st inst., the whole property was turned over to them.

Mr. Wingate is retained for the present as superintendent of the mines, and Mr. Chandler as clerk. The new owners have ordered the supply of coal to be increased to 800 or 900 tons here daily forthwith.

A new tunnel is now being built into a vein of eight feet of coal, the side chutes are extended in the other tunnels, and in a couple or three weeks' time the production will be as ordered. The N. P. R. R. Co. have sold no part of their road nor its franchise to the mine owners. They have bargained to deliver all the coal which shall be mined here for the Central Pacific Co. to New Tacoma, at $1 per ton. When it is known that the Central Pacific Co. use about 1500 tons of stone coal daily in all ways, and that no other coal on this coast answers them so well for all purposes as this does, the wise policy of their buying these mines is manifest. They can transport the coal to all sections upon their own ships. Thus we see that another mammoth capital is identified here in developing these vast coal mines; giving employment to a large additional number of laboring men, and increasing the tonnage upon the said road to the mines from New Tacoma.

It may be remarked that this coal needs no screening, but is used in the same condition in which it comes out from the mines.

The eighteen veins here foot up 114 feet, 11¼ inches solid coal. I inquired of Mr. Wingate how much coal an acre of surface of coal, one foot thick, would yield. His answer was 1500 tons. Now, admitting that only 1000 acres of those two sections are thus underlaid with coal, and multiply 1000 by 114 feet 11 inches, and that product by 1000, and the answer will be the number of tons which the C. P. Co. can obtain from their mines here. The N. P. R. R. Co. own four sections of coal lands close to these mines. Those veins crop out three miles north, across the hills at Wilkinson, and they extend south to an unknown distance.

According to the reports of mining experts these vast coal fields extend the whole way from the Columbia on the south to the British line on the north, and the Cascades on the east to the lower Sound upon the west. I have not space to write about the timber, and the great variety of precious and common minerals in all this large district of country. The land grant to the N. P. R. R. Co. on their two lines, one from Kalama to New Tacoma, and the other from Eastern Washington by the Green river pass to New Tacoma, will turn out to be worth millions of dollars.

I should not have gone into the details of the Carbon Hill coal mines and surroundings so extensively but for the fact that the outside world has but little knowledge of the vast undeveloped wealth in minerals and timber there are in this part of western Washington territory. It is to be hoped that congress will employ and send here a competent geologist and mineral expert to examine and report upon the minerals and rocks in this country.

The Influx of Foreign Workmen.

[New York Graphic.]

There is a great deal of nonsense and an evident cropping out of the spirit of know nothingism in the complaints which are made from time to time respecting "the intrusion" of foreign workmen into most of the mechanical trades in this country, and the exclusion therefrom of native workmen. It is said that nearly all the bricklayers, stone masons, stonecutters, carpenters, cabinet makers, piano-makers and workmen engaged in other similar trades in this metropolis and in the other large cities of the country are foreigners, and that the poor natives are crowded out. And it is proposed to demand legislation to compel employers to take at least one native for each three foreigners, and to make illegal trades unions consisting of foreigners. All this is arrant nonsense. The foreign workmen who come here are skilled in their trades, take a pride in them, and are not above their business. The young Americans have foolishly imbibed a contempt for manual labor and want to be "gentlemen"—to become counter-jumpers, or salesmen, or book-keepers, or anything else that will enable them to keep their hands soft and clean, and to starve miserably on three or five dollars a week. When they get over this folly, if they ever do get over it, and are willing to go to work to learn a good trade and to follow it, they will have no difficulty in obtaining employment. But they must first learn their trades—and this is just what the great majority of them are unwilling to do. The scale of technical education in this country is very low. The Chinese government removed its students from New England, not because they were learning too much, but because they were not learning enough that was practical and valuable, and it has sent them to the technical schools of France and Germany, where they can learn what they cannot learn here. The old race of skilled American mechanics is dying out. Their sons will not learn the trades of their fathers. They want to be shopkeepers, or lawyers, or doctors, or something that is "genteel." The most skilled mechanics we now have are of foreign birth and education, and they are naturally preferred to ignorant and unskilled natives. To talk about stopping this by legislation is as absurd as to propose to dam the Mississippi with a fishing pole.

Balky Horses.

[Germantown Telegraph.]

As long as we can remember we have read of remedies for balky horses, and they have been pretty much of the same character, to wit: To examine the harness on one side and then on the other, then jump into the wagon and drive off. Very nice, but try it. Next take the horse out of the shafts, and make him go round and round until he is giddy, etc. Rather difficult, we think, to make a horse giddy. Next, to place the hand over the horse's nose and hold it there, preventing him from breathing until he wants to go. Easy to try. Next, take a couple of turns of stout twine around the foreleg just below the knee, tight enough for the horse to feel, and tie in a bowknot. He will at once start, and the string can be removed. Next, take the tail of the horse between the hind legs and tie by a cord to the saddle-girth. Next, tie a string around the horse's ear close to his head.

There is another which we know frequently answers, which is to catch up a handful of dirt and force it into the mouth of the animal.

But there is still another, the one we have adopted in all cases, and have never yet known to fail. It is to pass a twine around the lower jaw, and of course below the tongue, and tie it quite tight over the top of the head, leaving an end of two or three feet, by which to pull at, walking in front of the horse. This will be found to be a remedy in all cases if properly done.

Not Interested in the Fight.

The political pulse does not beat so high in the south as it did previous to the last presidential election. The people of that section find it more to their profit to attend to their business interests than to sympathize with, or take part in, a contest which does not immediately concern them. For this reason we have the following from the Atlanta (Ga.) Constitutionalist:

We want to warn these New York democrats before it is too late that the south isn't perspiring any over the row between Tammany and Tilden. They might play the rule-and-ruin policy from now until the return of Comet B and nobody will be hurt save sundry gents who are hungering for the loaves and fishes. The south is just now engaged in more profitable business than cavorting around the political arena begging Kelly to fall on Tilden's bosom and seek forgiveness.

The "Doterel" Explosion.

[London Cable, Sept. 3d.]

The court of inquiry at Plymouth, in the case of the disaster to the sloop-of-war Doterel, has acquitted the captain and officers of all blame. In the opinion of the court the first explosion was caused by gas evolved in the coal bunkers, into which a light had probably been introduced for purposes of examination. The court further expressed the belief that the second explosion was the result of the first, the violence of which burst the bulkhead and allowed the flame to enter the magazine.

Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Wheat steady at $1 27¾ cash September; $1 30 October, $1 33 November, $1 38¾ year.

THE NORTHWEST.

There is not now a single case of smallpox in The Dalles. G. G. Smith, who died at the pest house there some ten days ago, was the first and only case occurring there for several years.

Washington Territory.

Dr. [illegible] died at his residence in Seattle on the fifth inst. of typhoid fever. He leaves a wife and son in that city.

One hundred and seventeen carloads of coal passed over the C. & P. S. railroad from Newcastle last Saturday between the hours of 7 o'clock A. M. and 5 P. M. The cars carry about ten tons each, which would make the day's work 1170 tons of coal. This probably is the largest amount of coal ever brought over the road in the same length of time.

The inspection and purchase of horses for military purposes in this department is delegated to Col. Cuvier Grover, Capt. Thomas McGregor, Capt. Charles Jackson, Capt. Chas. Bendire, 1st Lieut. R. P. Page Wainwright. An average rate of $100 per horse is allowed to be paid. They will meet for this purpose from time to time at Fort Walla Walla.

Intelligencer: In the purchase of the coal mine, the new company came into possession of a very large scow, or barge, 140 feet long, 30 feet beam and 6 feet depth of hold, on which the loaded cars were formerly transported across Lake Washington. Of late it has been of no use. It is now intended to have the huge thing repaired a little and sent around to the Columbia river where it can be put to use. To build such a craft would cost about $5000.

Miss Edith Sanderson was employed last week as assistant teacher in the Belltown school. This completes the list of teachers for Seattle proper, the other eleven teachers having been selected before. The district extends beyond the city limits, taking in Lake Union and Salmon bay. Two teachers will there be wanted during a part of the year now about opening, the hiring of whom will bring up the number in the public school service to thirteen teachers, or one more than last year, and about three times as many as six years ago.

La Conner Mail: Harvesting is progressing satisfactorily; the weather thus far has been propitious; every laborer who has offered has found immediate employment at remunerative wages; the supply has been equal to the demand and no more; the yield is fully up to the average; prices are uncommonly high and promising, and barring untoward events which cannot now be foreseen, this will be a very prosperous season to our farmers, in which the printer expects to share. It is estimated that there will not be less than 10,000 tons of grain of this year's crop to ship from this vicinity.

The city council of Seattle has fixed the salaries of city officers as follows: Justices of the peace receive the regular fees allowed by the territory; the city marshal also receives fees but no salary; the city clerk who has formerly received $400 per annum has been raised to $500; the city attorney has been raised from $300 to $500; the treasurer receives 3 per cent as before; the health officer has heretofore had no stated salary, but now is fixed at $360 per annum; no change has been made in the surveyor's wages; the street commissioner's wages have been raised from $3 to $3 50 per day; no change in harbor master; the assessor now gets $250 instead of $200 as formerly; the salary of chief of police, who performs the duties of fire warden and harbor master without compensation, is not changed, but remains at $100 per month; the night police have been raised from $70 to $80 per month.

Catching Polar Bears.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

"I do so pity those men on the Rodgers," remarked Mrs. Max, passing the major the honey, which he always insisted upon having with his rice cakes.

"Yes, indeed," replied the major, who was a trifle cynical that morning, having burned his mouth with coffee. "Yes, indeed, my dear, the life of an Arctic explorer must be hard. They are so isolated from the world. Just imagine, if you can, the horror of living three years out of the dust, and wind, and fog, and rain of our glorious climate; of not meeting all that time the man at your club who thinks the oftener a story is told the better it is; of being without the consolation afforded you by the busted stock operator who knows you are glad of an opportunity to lend him a twenty; of being where millinery and Japanese decoration stores do not daily entrap one's wife; of being——"

"Why, major, how you do talk! I was only thinking of the horrid things the Rodgers' crew will have to do to get their bear steaks."

"How's that?" asked the major, instantly interested over the subject of steaks, which he holds of much greater importance than the Irish land troubles.

"What I know about it," resumed Mrs. Max, "I read in a fashion paper, and it ought to be true."

"It certainly ought to be, Mrs. Max, if only on account of its old age."

"Well, the article said," continued Mrs. Max, pretending to ignore the major's slur on her favorite reading, "that Arctic explorers when they want to kill a polar bear plant a big knife in the ice with the blade sticking up. They daub the blade with blood, and the bear comes along and licks it and cuts his tongue. It is so cold that he don't feel the cut, but, tasting his own blood, continues to lick the knife until his tongue is all frayed, and he bleeds to death. Isn't it dreadful?"

"Quiet your fears my dear," said the major when his wife had finished. "That is the way they killed the bears when the story was first published, but in the last twenty years an improvement has been made, which I will tell you about if you will kindly give me just a drop more of coffee, with cold milk this time. The way the thing is done now is as follows: When Capt. Berry, of the Rodgers, wants a polar bear for dinner, he gives a midshipman a copper bed-spring and a chunk of salt pork. The midshipman compresses the spring perfectly flat, wraps the pork around it tight, and holds it so until it freezes solid. Then the frozen pork, stuffed with the bed-spring, is thrown out to the nearest iceberg, where it is promptly swallowed by a polar bear. When the heat of the bear's stomach thaws out the pork it releases the spring, and the bear soon dies from a pain in his side."

"Major," said Mrs. Max with much warmth, "I don't believe that story is true."

"No, my dear, and you won't until in a few years you see it in some fashion paper, and then you will swear by it."

Cosmic Emotion.

[Nineteenth Century.]

In Homer as in Shakespeare the worship of nature holds but a subordinate place. To these great bards the folds of many fountained Ida, the waste of starry brine, the moonlight sleeping on the bank, the morn walking over the dew of some high eastern hill—these are but the frame wherein are set their pictures of men and women and societies, of passions, of sufferings, character, of hope, despair, love and devotion. Poetry, taken as a whole, presents us with an image of man, not of nature; the drama of real life, not a dream of the universe. And if the starry light is beautiful, it may be nothing to the smile of a child. One speech of Prometheus, or of Hamlet, or Faust, teaches us more than 10,000 sunsets. And this poetic idealization of nature is a choice of certain facts for the sake of their beauty and their majesty. It deliberately excludes myriads of other facts that are not beautiful, and yet are very real and act potently on us. Deep is our debt to the magicians who have shown us how to see the world radiant and harmonious. It is an ideal, infinitely precious and invigorating. But it is not the real truth, or rather not the whole truth—far from it. The world is not all radiant and harmonious; it is often savage and chaotic. In thought we can see only the bright, but in hard fact we are brought face to face with the dark side. Waste, ruin, conflict, rot, are about us everywhere. If tornadoes, earthquakes, glacier epochs, are not very frequent, there is everywhere decay, dissolution, waste, every hour and in every pore of the vast Cosmos. See nature at its richest on the slopes of some Andes or Himalayas, where at first glance it shows us one vision of delight and peace. We gaze more steadily; we see how animal and vegetable and inorganic life are at war tearing each other; every leaf holds its destructive insect, every tree is a scene of torture, combat, death; everything preys on everything; animals, storms, suns and snows waste the flower, and the harsh climate tortures to death the living world, and the inanimate world is wasted by the animate, or by its own pent up forces. We need as little think this earth all beauty as think it all horrors. It is made up of loveliness and ghastliness; of harmony and chaos; of agony, joy, life, death. The nature worshipers are blind and deaf to the waste and the shrieks which meet the seeker after truth.

New York Politics.

[New York Herald, Aug. 30th.]

While the democratic "bosses," "chiefs" and "organs" are keeping up their fight with all the ferocity of the famous cats of Kilkenny, the republican factions in the state are gradually becoming the happiest of happy families. Following the leadership of the Express, the Albany organ of the [illegible], the [illegible] of Rochester takes up the delightful refrain of harmony and peace. It says: "There is no substantial basis on which to found a serious rivalry between different wings of the republican party. We are now all Garfield men, and want nothing better than to remain such. But if that cannot be there will still be no cause nor even excuse for divisions in the party. Thus whatever may be in store for us in other respects, we may at least look for united and vigorous action by republicans in the coming canvass." This, as the Herald has pointed out, is the situation which the democracy will have to meet next November—a solid republican party, resolutely determined to win success at the polls and resolved to postpone the settlement of their differences and dissensions, if any exist, until after election. The Buffalo Courier, one of the ablest democratic newspapers in the state, clearly sees the danger to its party from the "bosses." "If it be argued," it says, "that the exclusion of either of the New York halls would mean another defeat like that of 1879 for our state ticket, the reply is obvious. Such defeat had better come now than three years hence. Indeed, if this is the sort of democracy professed or practiced by any New York clique or faction the sooner the fact is known the better. Such friends are dangerous only so long as they are inside the camp. But we anticipate no such results from a firm and uncompromising resolve by the democratic party of the state to compel a cessation of the present abuses of Kellyism and Tildenism in New York city and a return to genuine democratic tradition and practice." If the democratic state convention shall have the good sense and sagacity to pursue the policy outlined in the above sensible remarks of the Courier the party will go into the campaign on something like equal terms with its opponents. Handicapped by the "bosses," its defeat is certain.

Ben Butler Sued.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The U. S. district attorney this afternoon began the preparation of his argument on the motion to dismiss certain actions now pending in the U. S. circuit court against Benjamin F. Butler to recover $675,000 damages. John H. Lester, now of New York, but formerly of Virginia, has two additional actions, one for [illegible] and the other for $140,000 damages. During the war it was discovered that Lester assisted in the manufacture of arms for the confederate government. He was tried by a court martial and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment with ball and chain. His property was confiscated. Francis M. Fisk has an action for $300,000 damages for property, including machinery, buildings and household utensils confiscated. A motion to dismiss will be made on the ground that the defendant acted in accordance with the proclamation of the president to confiscate the property of the plaintiff, and was, therefore, not liable to prosecution for damages.

THURSDAY EVENING, Sept. 15, 1881.

While there have been no large single transactions in wheat during the week past, small lots have been sold every day, so that the total amount of business foots up considerable. On Monday the market was dull and, practically, without buyers. Tuesday a better feeling, prompted by favorable foreign advices sprung up [illegible] times. To-day there was more disposition to buy at the following prices: Valley, $1 [illegible]; Walla Walla, [illegible] per bushel. Quotations for Walla Walla mean wheat [illegible] delivered at railroad station[illegible].

Charters are, if possible, firmer than ever, and a nominal quotation for a spot vessel would be [illegible]. November arrivals are firmly held at this figure, offers of [illegible] being refused.

THE ENGLISH MARKET.

The Mark Lane Express, of the [illegible] instant, reviewing the English grain market, says the following, which is telegraphed specially to THE OREGONIAN:

LONDON, Sept. 15.—There has been more or less rain every day for a week in Wales and some parts of England. The weather was more favorable in Scotland. Harvest is only commencing. Much of the grain is unripe. Deliveries of new wheat are increasing and less than 25 per cent of samples now offering are in good condition. The inevitable consequence of offering such a large quantity of damaged grain in a country which formerly depended for three-fifths of its breadstuffs on foreign supplies will be the rapid lowering of the millers' standard value for native wheats. The bulk of the secured crop will not be fit to thresh for months. Markets have been irregular and cheaper during the week. In London a decline of 1s Wednesday was not recovered. Interest is centering in foreign breadstuffs, which, in spite of slow sales, closes firm as regards wheat and best makes of flour. Wednesday's depression is being recovered, and various causes combine to arrest the downward movement, such as continued bad weather and high speculative prices in America. The rapidly increasing floating supply is strengthening the position of buyers. English flour generally favors buyers. There are virtually no samples of native barley or oats in the market, and quotations for both, English and foreign, are nominally unchanged. The week of cargo business has been small, only five cargoes having been sold of twelve which arrived up to Friday. About twenty cargoes, principally white wheat, arrived during the week. Off coast the market closed firm Friday, 51s 9d being refused for red winter and Milwaukee marking 52s and Australian 54s. Sales of English wheat last week 33,390 quarters at 54s 2d per quarter, against 28,146 quarters at 61s per quarter for the corresponding week last year.

Home Produce Market.

Oats are dull; little doing. Hay is quiet. All kinds of mill feed is scarce. When mills begin to run which will be soon, there will be better supply. Green apples and pears are in good demand and sell readily. Butter is firm and commands full prices. Provisions are active and the market has an upward tendency. Dried fruit continues dull as ever. Chickens are in good supply and lower. Good potatoes are in demand.

THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,
will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

—:o:—

DR. C. McLANE'S

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of Disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the [illegible] system; and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician, a timidity from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, [illegible] permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organizations broken down, [illegible] of future happiness blighted, [illegible] becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

And fibre with fever and ague, or bilious remittent, the system may yet be freed from the malignant virus with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Protect the system against it with this beneficent antispasmodic, which is furthermore a supreme remedy for liver complaint, constipation, dyspepsia, debility, rheumatism, kidney troubles and all ailments. For sale by all druggists and dealers generally.

King of the Blood

Is not a "cure all;" it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists, $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.
